Swiss Must Serve

Every Able-Bodied Male Between 10 and 60 Would Come Within Limits

Berne, Switzerland, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Swiss Federal Council drew up a proposed law today making every able-bodied Swiss male between 10 and 60 years eligible for military service.

Present ages for military service are between 20 and 48. Officials said the new measure was certain to pass parliament.

It was estimated unofficially the law would increase the number of men Switzerland could mobilize from 260,000 to nearly 400,000. The Swiss standing army numbers fewer than 50,000.

The new proposal provides that youths take their first training period, averaging 90 days, when they pass their 18th birthday. Thereafter they will be required to spend one week in training each year for seven consecutive years. Men between 48 and 60 will keep their military equipment in their homes instead of turning it back to the government.

Accuses Baby's Father

Fifteen-year-old Mrs. Thomasina Deluca, shown with her two-month-old son, accuses her husband of trying to freeze the baby to death by unclothing it in cold weather. Deluca, also accused by his wife of neglecting the baby in favor of a pet monkey, was charged with assault with intent to murder the child in an arraignment at Lawrence, Mass.

Woman's Coolness Is Puzzle to Officials in Burckhalter Probe

BENCH WARRANTS ISSUED FOR SEVEN

Bench warrants were directed issued for seven defendants by County Judge Frederick G. Traver Monday afternoon when the men failed to put in an appearance at the closing session of county court.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray asked that the names of Jasper Maritato, Anthony Aldola and Bennie Adala, alias "Tony and Bennie Costa," Albert J. Partian, Linus J. Quinn, Jack Durham and Edward E. Decker be called in open court. When none of the seven responded either in person or by counsel he asked the court to direct bench warrants issued.

Mr. Murray told the court that the men had been told to be present in court at 2 o'clock for further disposition of their cases. All seven men are involved in charges growing out of the raids made several months ago to suppress alleged gambling and policy rackets in Kingston. At the time the men were indicted and arraigned they were represented by counsel and not guilty pleas were taken. Mr. Murray told the court that there had been frequent changes of counsel in the cases and every time he was ready to proceed he was faced with another attorney. The last attorney in the case had informed the prosecuting officer that he was appearing only temporarily in the matter and the cases were put over. All of the defendants were to be in court Monday, said the prosecuting officer, and when they failed to appear he asked that bench warrants for their arrest be issued.

London Reports Say Berlin to Recall Envoy to St. James's; Embargo Is Asked

Mass Protest Is Held Last Night at Garden

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt was asked today to impose an embargo against all German goods.

The embargo was demanded at a mass protest meeting in Madison Square Garden last night sponsored by American organizations actively opposed to the Nazi regime's policies concerning its minorities. Police estimated more than 20,000 attended.

Spectators leaped to their feet shouting when William Welner, president of the Jewish peoples' committee, said:

"Let us organize such an irresistible movement that its voice will span the ocean, give hope to the victims and bring fear to the persecutors."

Scores of persons in the audience forwarded to President Roosevelt individual copies of a general telegram praising the administration for calling home Ambassador Wilson and urging him to follow up that action by declaring a complete embargo.

Speakers included Dorothy Parker, author and screen writer; Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist; and H. V. Kaltenborn, radio commentator.

Paul J. Kern, president of the municipal civil service commission and chairman of the meeting, said greetings and messages of support were received from the governors of 21 states, 22 congressmen and several United States senators.

American Writer Must Quit Italy

Rome, Nov. 22 (AP)—Frank Smothers, Rome correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, was ordered to leave Italy today because of the "unfriendly" tone of his dispatches.

He was given until the end of the month to leave of his own volition.

forced return to his homeland which he feared would bring imprisonment or death.

James Houghtaling, immigration commissioner, announced at Washington last night that List, who has a wife and three-year-old child in Rochester, N. Y., would be allowed to go to some other country and return here later under the German quota.

His friends said List probably would sail for Cuba next week to await his quota permit.

List entered this country illegally several years ago, married, and settled in Rochester. Later immigration officials advised him to leave the United States and re-enter legally under the German quota.

He went to Europe but in Paris enlisted with the Loyalists in duty in Spain, and was wounded slightly. Unable to obtain a visa after his return to Paris, he stowed away on the French liner Normandie and was jailed at Ellis Island on the ship's arrival.

Despite Work There's a Strike

Cattle in the vast Chicago stockyards got their hay despite a strike of handlers. The difference in the scene here and the usual procedure is that these hay-tossers are the farmers who brought the cattle to market. Hog owners had to drive their own animals into pens. Spokesmen for the Packing House Workers' Union claimed 585 of 700 handlers joined the walkout. Wage and hour demands were at stake they said. One hundred policemen were on guard duty in the yards.

Officials Take Steps To Bring World's Fair Tourists to County

Business Interests Meet at City Hall, Adopt Resolution Asking $5,000 for Regional Advertising

First steps to launch a campaign designed to attract business to this area from the World's Fair in New York next year were taken at a meeting of local business groups and members of the city administration at the city hall recently. It was announced today.

Support of the county board of supervisors was asked in a resolution adopted by the group and the board was petitioned to raise the sum of $5,000 in compliance with a recently adopted state law making such appropriations possible.

The following copy of a statement by the group was sent to all civic and business organizations in the county:

Last year the New York state legislature enacted a law granting the board of supervisors of each county the authority to appropriate money for advertising the resources and advantages of their county. Under this law the Ulster county board of supervisors is allowed to spend $5,000 annually for such purposes.

In April, 1935, the New York World's Fair will open, which will attract an estimated 16,000,000 visitors from within and outside our state boundaries to its marvelous exhibits. Realizing the enormous potential possibilities for every line of business catering to human needs, to be derived from this great influx of visitors, many areas of the state, notably the Thousand Islands, Adirondacks, Finger Lakes, Mohawk Valley, Cherry Valley and counties on the east bank of the Hudson have already started advertising campaigns to publicize their sections to induce these millions to visit them as a part of the trip. The state publicity department is reported working in conjunction with Buffalo and Albany to feature especially Niagara Falls and the state capital.

Although this offers Ulster county an outstanding opportunity to obtain a share of this enormous business, no concerted action has been taken to advertise our national advantages or to induce these visitors to travel on the west side of the Hudson and visit our county.

Besides the scenic beauty of the glorious Catskills, the rugged Shawangunks and the majestic Hudson which out-of-state visitors will want to see, our county contains more historical points of interest and all year recreational locations than any nearby area. Our Catskill Mountain region is the second largest vacationland on the eastern seaboard and the nearest to the World's Fair and the metropolitan district. We have excellent transportation facilities and offer a complete range of hotels, inns, boarding houses, restaurants, camps and camp sites furnishing accommodations to "fit every purse."

In the past several of our communities have independently advertised for the fair. It is suggested that we coordinate our efforts and make a united effort to bring the world's fair tourists to our county.

Bevoise, an attorney, and Bertam Cutter, a financial adviser to the Rockefeller family.

Debts amounted to $133,348, ranging from an item of 58 cents for cloth purchased prior to Mr. Rockefeller's death to $42,812 due as a federal gift tax for 1937.

In a statement accompanying the appraisal Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., listed $187,000 in gifts made by his father in the two years prior to his death. They included many donations to Republican state and national committees.

The list of assets included a solitary share of stock in the immense oil empire founded by Mr. Rockefeller.

"One share of the Standard Oil of California common," the item read, "value $43.94 with a dividend of $4.45 declared prior to his death and payable June 15, 1937."

Another item was 27,722 shares of Mount Powell Mines Company common stock with a par value of

CHINA TRADE DUE FOR RISE AND FALL

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—If American trade with China follows the pattern traced in Manchukuo, United States exporters may see their business with the Chinese increase for a few years and then go into a tailspin.

Experts here suggested today that parallel is likely to occur, with material damage to America's 1937 position as the largest seller in China and the largest buyer of Chinese goods.

At stake is a total trade of about $153,000,000.

The experts based their belief on the fact that Japan's economy, strained by an unexpectedly long war, will not be able to provide China's needs for a time.

When Japan is back on her economic feet, however, the situation will be different. The belief is general that purchases from American and other foreign commercial houses will be made only in cases where Japanese firms are unable to fill the order.

Secretary Hull told Japan last month she had virtually squeezed American business out of Manchukuo and he feared the same thing would happen in China.

Although American trade with Manchukuo was nearly four times as great in 1937 as in 1932 when Japan conquered the region, the increase again was a wartime development.

In 1932 the United States exported $4,228,000 worth of goods to Manchukuo. Immediately after her occupation, Japan, needing supplies and herself strained by the war, began large scale importations into Manchukuo. American exports to the conquered territory rose to $7,442,000 in 1933 and to $11,504,000 in 1934.

Then, with Japan recovering from the strain of the conflict, American exports declined to $7,461,000 in 1935 and to $6,880,000 in 1936.

In the eight months of this year, while Japan was taking over larger sections of China, American exports dropped from $42,075,000 to $25,737,000. Imports from China declined from $80,765,000 to $23,731,000.

Anglo-German Amity Cooled Since Munich Pact; Official Sources Deny Germany Summons Her Ambassador

Colonial Boogie

Resentment Flares at Chamberlain, Germans Fear They Might Not Get Colonies

(By The Associated Press)

The problem of finding havens for oppressed German Jews today cast a shadow over relations between Germany and Britain and claimed the anxious attention of many other countries.

London newspapers published reports—officially denied in London and Berlin—that Germany was considering summoning her ambassador home for consultation—such a course as the United States and Germany already have taken with one another.

Nazi resentment centered on Premier Chamberlain's proposal to settle German Jewish refugees in Tanganyika, formerly German East Africa. She feared this might interfere with Adolf Hitler's campaign to regain lost German colonies.

Chamberlain told parliament yesterday Britain was prepared to allocate parts of Tanganyika, northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland and Kenya colony, in Africa, and some 10,000 square miles of British Guiana, in South America, for German refugees.

The House of Commons adopted a resolution deploring treatment of "certain racial, religious and political minorities in Europe," adding further fuel to Nazi anger.

The German Jewish problem was one of the chief issues facing the British cabinet as it met to go over foreign relations before Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax depart tomorrow for a visit in Paris.

Although mass arrests in Germany ceased, the anti-Jewish campaign continued with Propaganda Minister Goebbels preparing to address 1,000 colleagues in Kroll Opera House tonight on how to conduct an anti-Jewish drive, the first of numerous meetings planned.

In Berchtesgaden, Hitler received the new ambassador from France, Robert Comolandre, with a statement Germany and France were "no longer divided by the serious conflicts which burdened their past."

Premier Daladier, facing increased opposition to his decrees laws providing for higher taxes and lengthened working hours, ordered firm action against a wave of stay-in strikes in French defense industries.

Sources close to the Paris government said Daladier and Chamberlain at their meeting tomorrow would study a plan for ending the Spanish civil war. It was understood the program would be submitted to Germany and Italy for approval.

In Berlin the German press received Nazi feeling against settlement of German Jews in British Tanganyika, former German East Africa, today as plans developed for continuing the anti-Jewish campaign through the winter.

The continued campaign, although mass arrests have been stopped, centers about Propaganda Minister Goebbels.

He is to address 1,000 of his colleagues at the Kroll Opera House tonight on how to conduct an anti-Jewish drive, and the newspaper Zwölf Uhr Blatt said 1,500 meetings were planned for Berlin alone this winter.

The subjects will be, the newspaper said, "Equal Jew Disturbs Peace of the World and 'One People—One Will—One Aim.'"

The Nazi film, "Jewry Without the Mask" will be shown at all meetings.

Authoritative quarters said a strict ban on all Jewish religious services except marriage and

An Easier Row

Tanganyika Offers Easier Situation for Jewish Refugees Than Did Palestine

London, Nov. 22 (AP)—If Jewish refugees from Germany settle in Tanganyika, former German East Africa, they will perhaps have an easier row to hoe than their brothers who built a new home in Palestine.

The Holy Land presented the problem of culling harvest from near desert land, but the proposed Tanganyika territories offer arable and productive land. Development as yet has barely touched the territory's vast area, 360,000 square miles.

The 50,000 acres of southern Tanganyika which Governor M. A. Young told Premier Chamberlain would be suitable for black immigration present particularly fertile land where an immigrating community would find ample opportunity to flourish.

Waltz Contest Plans Advance

Plans were reported advancing today by the management of the Broadway Theatre for the Metro-Goldwyn Mayer "Great Waltz Competition," to be held on the stage of the local theatre, November 30.

Other theatres of the area, including those at Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Peekskill and Middletown will hold similar contests and the finals for this section will be held at Poughkeepsie December 2.

Eight couples will be chosen at Poughkeepsie and sent to New York the following night to compete in the pre-finals at Loew's State Theatre.

The New York city finals are to be followed by the grand finals in the main ballroom of the Hotel Waldorf Astoria on December 12 when the movie contract will be awarded. Proceeds of this event will be donated to the American Red Cross.

Every one, with the exception of professionals and those under 16, are eligible. Entrants may participate in this road-to-fame-and-fortune contest by writing or calling on the manager of the theatre holding the contest, which is nearest their home.

OPEN MEMORANDUM

Re: A Christmas Preview

THE advance shipment of a new stock of furniture arrived at Hardenbergh's yesterday. Our personal enthusiasm runs high. True, the pieces looked good when we ordered them, but today they look even better.

THIS YEAR we attended the Annual Showing at Furniture Mart on Chicago's lake front, and were gratified to find so large a selection of furniture which we believed to be just right for our store—which means that quality and good taste were introduced, and the prices ranged reasonably.

FEELING like ambassadors from Ulster County on a special mission, we made our careful selections, choosing not pieces that were stunning in themselves, nor those best suited to Metropolitan apartments, but more practically selecting those which seemed made for HOMES; pieces especially suited, we believed, to Ulster County homes. Then we narrowed down our choices to the most versatile pieces, those which best would blend with the furnishings of Ulster County homes as we know them.

FURTHERMORE, we made arrangements to add a Gift Corner to our store—so that you may centralize your Christmas shopping! Thus you will want to visit HARDENBERGH'S not only when you are interested in finer home furnishings, but when you are ready to select from a large array of smart "gift" articles that will be as practical as they are distinguished. (Detailed announcements of the opening of the Gift Corner after Thanksgiving, will follow).

WE RETURNED to Kingston knowing we had done our best, and anxiously awaited arrival of the double order. A part of it is here. The remainder will follow within a few days. We now are putting on display the first arrivals, notably tables and chairs of beautiful construction, all faithful to old designs, all worthy to supplement or replace the finest in your home, either to mix or to match. The prices—you'll find them an incentive to buy, not a stumbling block.

IT IS IN THE AIR that more people are going to observe this Christmas in the grand manner. Traditional formality. Substantial gifts. Inevitably, gifts for the home. So we're putting our best foot forward, of course.

IN ADDITION, we have an innate sense of hospitality. Because we believe you'll enjoy a visit to our store, and we'd like to have you come and browse, we're putting it this way. Any time you have a moment uptown, you are cordially invited to see what we might call our 'Christmas preview.' Now do you feel perfectly free to come in and just look around? Please do.

MONTH OF CHARITY

November has become a season of charitable giving through organizations dedicated to human service. Several hundred community chests are replenished throughout the country during November.

The American Red Cross conducts its annual roll call, beginning on Armistice Day.
This is the drive for membership and the individual dues which help to build up the fund
with which the organization does its great work. It is in November, too, that we begin to hear first about the Christmas Seals of the National Tuberculosis Association, the stamps by means of which money is raised
to pay for preventive and health education
work in the unceasing battle against tuberculosis.

Last year the community chests of the land raised more than $80,000,000 for varied welfare work. The total Red Cross enrollment, including junior and senior memberships, was more than 13,000,000. Christmas Seals, while alike all over the country, are promoted locally and the funds raised are used locally, providing for health examinations, treatment, hospital beds and other needs.

Well-supported as these groups have been,
they have never yet had as much money as they needed to do all the tasks waiting for them. Year by year, however, their supporters increase, as Americans realize their obligation to share what they have with those who have not, to improve social conditions and provide for emergencies.

PRIVATE SOCIAL SECURITY

General Motors' guaranteed income plan
for wage-workers during layoffs looks like an important contribution to real social security. More than 150,000 employees are said to be affected, and a somewhat similar plan
for salaried employees is expected to follow.

Starting next year, those who have been working for the company five years or more will be paid, when idle, 60 per cent of their usual weekly earnings until they are re-employed. Those with two to five years' service will draw 40 per cent of their usual pay. There are no work-insurance dues. The payments
mentioned will come out of the employers'
pockets, and will be regarded as loans bearing no interest. When the beneficiaries start working again, they will repay the advances
at the rate of half the amount by which
their earnings exceed their standard wage.
If the employee dies, his unpaid debt will be canceled.

Thus, when an eligible employee gets a basic pay of $1 an hour, his standard earnings for a 40-hour week will be $40, and in case of a shut-down or lay-off he will receive 60 per cent of that, or $24 a week. Then when he resumes work, he will draw $32 a week
instead of his usual $40, automatically paying back to the company $8 a week until he is even. If he works more than 40 hours
a week, he will pay faster.

If industry can do this sort of thing, obviously, there will be less responsibility for the government to carry. The experiment will be watched with great interest. It looks like a humane and intelligent plan, not only benefitting labor but tending to stabilize business by sustaining labor's buying power.

GERMAN-AMERICANS PROTEST

The German-American Culture League,
which has a membership of 80,000 throughout the United States, has issued a statement saying: "We condemn the injustice, brutality
and robbery committed by the Hitler government, and declare that the decent element of the Germans of the whole world strongly disapproves of the recent happenings in Germany."

German-American newspapers are taking the same patriotic stand. The New York Staats-Zeitung, foremost German paper in America, has expressed its horror at Nazi cruelities, and the Wachter und Anzeiger of Cleveland says: "Even those German-Americans who let themselves be misled into false
sympathies by the success of the Nazis in the field of foreign politics are awakening."

The threats from yonder do not impress German-Americans. They stand loyally by the flag of American democracy and humanity."

Such declarations should make Hitler,
Goering, Goebbels and the rest of their crew
do some real thinking.

TWO-BUYER CARS

Jack Sprat and his wife—meaning the public—have been attending the five current automobile shows in New York city. They are an automobile-wise couple, according to the exhibitors who observe them. Mr. Sprat is chiefly interested in the mechanical features of the cars. He pokes and inspects and admires and asks questions about all the things that are necessary to make the cars
go and stop—the engine, the brakes, the steering apparatus, the gear shift and all the many parts and connections.

Mrs. Sprat, in the meanwhile, studies the interiors, minutely inspecting upholstery,
hardware and appointments.

The division of interest works out all right,
too. "Between them both" Mr. and Mrs.
Sprat get a fine car when they finally make their choice. It is perhaps this nice combination of interests that has caused makers to improve cars in both appearance and performance.

A male friend says he's all worn out trying to decide, from these hat styles, whether
women have a wonderful sense of humor
or none at all.

Yes, we have some gangsters in this country. But they're in private life.

THAT BODY
OF YOURS

ATTACK OF INFLUENZA.

During the influenza epidemic of 1918 the military hospital with which I was connected asked for volunteers from a certain unit to each give a few ounces of their blood as they were leaving hospital after recovering from influenza. Without exception these men of excellent physique gave the influenza successfully. This blood (which had fought influenza successfully) was then injected into the more serious cases of influenza with excellent results, the record for the hospital standing among the first half dozen for the continent.

This blood, fresh from withstanding influenza,
had developed so many "anti-bodies"—disease fighters or resistors—that it was, of course, a great boon to the tired or worn blood of the patient.

Notwithstanding that it is able to reduce the power of influenza, this power in the blood does not
last for very long, according to studies by Drs.
R. W. Fairbrother and E. A. Martin, in The Lancet, London. These physicians state that in view of the great number of anti-bodies in this blood, it is surprising that it is not able to protect patients developing influenza as they may be again attacked with influenza within ten months or a year.

It may be that there are a number of "strains"
of poison in influenza, so many strains to be controlled or prevented from causing trouble that the antibodies developed by the previous attack soon
get used up or exhausted.

As a number of recently infected persons were available, Drs. Fairbrother and Martin studied the fluctuations or changes in the number of antibodies
in the blood over periods of ten to twelve months.
The number or proportion of antibodies in the blood seems to tell the exact ability of the individual to resist infection; a large amount shows high resistance and a small number shows low resistance. But whether high or low, the body's ability to resist influenza shows to where it was (before the attack of influenza) within ten to twelve months.

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

The Characters

Katherine Corneah, myself, visiting Elizabeth on a mid-western Army post.
Elizabeth, Colonel Wright's
daughter.
Adam, Drew, acting commanding officer.

Yesterday: The girl is an epileptic. In her room is a strange note beginning "Come if you must—" and ending "Keep under cover or you'll find you had."

Chapter 16

The Typewriter

ALONE with the unconscious
girl I read the note once more.
There was something familiar about the typewritten letters. I began to search the lines feverishly.
Yes, the e was out of line, and the
i crowded the letter that followed.
I dropped the sheet of paper and stared at the bare white wall. It was unbearably hot here close to the roof. Hardly aware of what I was doing, I fumbled with the frogs and buttons at my throat,
along the shoulder, under the arm.
As I slipped out of the mandarin
coat I was conscious of intense relief, as if it typified all the heavy blackness, all the evil of the night.

I hung it carefully over the back of the chair, for, after all, it was a gorgeous garment and it was not mine. Then I picked up the letter
and held it close to the light,
staring hopelessly at the d.i.tive
type, as familiar to me as the pattern of lines on my own hand, and remembering exactly, vividly, a scene in the two-room apartment
I share with Eileen—a scene nearly a year old.

I was proudly showing my new noiseless typewriter to Charlie—Charlie on his way to join the regiment, his ring very new and strange on my finger.

"Look, Charlie, it's red!"
"And pipe the streamline curves! Don't kid me, it's a tricycle or something. That thing can't write—"

"No, I do that."
Charlie was shaking his head
mournfully.

"The old gray mare ain't what she used to be. What ever became of Grandpa's old Oliver? Now
there was a typewriter!"

"Oh, I've got a battered old wreck too. They wanted to give me ten dollars for it, but it was too much like parting with a member of the family. I thought I might still use it occasionally, but of course I won't."

"I'll give you a ten spot for it."
"Sight unseen? After what I've done to it—and on it—I doubt if it's worth it."

"Well, I need something that will set down one letter after another. You know my fist."

"It couldn't help be more legible
than that—after all, I saw me through college. You'll treat it gently—and give it a new ribbon occasionally? I really ought to put it out, to pasture after all these years."

After all those years was it likely that I could be mistaken? Was it likely that two old typewriters
would have the same defects—defects that speckled all the early manuscripts that still overflowed
my desk drawers?

I might as well face it. That letter, the damnably callous letter
that the poor stricken girl had brought with her, had been written on Charlie's typewriter—
Charlie's—that once was mine.

Worse Than Murder

MY determination to shield him wavered. If he had written that letter he was not the boy I grew up with. And what could she be to him—that stigmatized figure
of tragedy, so slight, so worn, so alone that she must trust to the compassion of any passing stranger when the mad mechanism
of her body betrayed her?

If she were Charlie's responsibility—but how could she be?— then he must ask no quarter from
me. Worse than heathen murder was the callous indifference of someone who knew this girl was here—alone. And the letter had been written on Charlie's typewriter.

I was through concealing clues.
The presence of Ethel Curtis put
a graver complexion on things.
Something evil was stalking
through these corridors tonight—
something self-centered and ruthless. A personality began to take shape in my mind.

I closed the door softly behind me and crept to the head of the stairs. I could still hear her if she stirred. I could hear, too, Adam's voice below me, and could distinguish most of the questions and answers.

After a moment I recognized the other voice as Barney's—quick,

high, nervous, obviously strained
to the breaking point.
"We must have been near the door," I heard him say. "The entrance, I mean. I heard—I thought it was one of those balloons. She went limp—in my arms." His voice broke, staided. "Then I saw—
there was blood on my hand..."
"Then the shot seemed to come from outside?"
"I don't know—I tell you, I thought it was a balloon."
"Do you remember a car passing?"
"I don't know—I think—no, I don't know. There may have been."
Adam was silent for a minute.
When he resumed his voice was less official, more gentle.
"What kind of trouble was she
in, Barney?"
"Trouble? What do you mean?
What makes you think so?"
"I don't know. Even tonight—I thought she seemed—ragged."
"She drinks—drank too much.
I've been telling her. She was going on the wagon—after tonight."
"Was that why you split up last spring?"
"Not—not exactly." I ached at the pangs in that tortured voice.
"You heard that story about Wheeler? He was shooting off his mouth. Shaw told me the straight of it, but even then—I guess I was jealous. I thought—she might really like the fellow."

"But you changed your mind?"
"Yes—later. That was Elizabeth.
She talked some sense into me."
We had been hearing a lot of theories about Elizabeth and Barney. Here at last was something that sounded authentic. If only Charlie's part could be as reasonably explained.

But the typewriter—and I had seen his eyes when he looked at her.

The Prize

"THEN you've nothing to add
about that shot this afternoon?" I heard Adam ask.
"I told you I don't know anything about a shot. I dropped a light bulb and that ass Shaw thinks
back and decides it was a shot."

"But we did find a bullet,"
Adam reminded him mildly.

"You know what I think about that. Somebody—somebody missed
her the first time."

The last words were half sobbed.
Steadily Adam would let him go
now.

He did. I heard his voice asking Barney to stay around and advising him to take care of himself.
But Barney's ordeal was not ended.
I heard the door open and Mrs.
Flower's uncontrolled words began to flow.

"Such a dreadful thing—you poor boy! Quite like Juliet and Romeo, only of course she didn't kill herself—or did she? Juliet,
I mean, I was just asking Mr. Shaw where you were. So sad and you're able to be about. He didn't know about the prize; that's how he happened to mention you."

"The prize?" Barney repeated
stupidly.

"Yes, for the balloon dance. My balloon was the last one on the floor—at least—well, yes I was the last one dancing. So of course
I asked Mr. Shaw about the prize
and he said you'd know..."

There was a awful silence. For once Adam must have been
at a loss, then someone began to laugh—a thin, high giggle.

"The prize?" Barney gasped stirring and broke into another peal
of that terrible laughter.

Adam said something in a low voice and the sound ceased. A door opened and closed.

"Now don't say a word," said
Mrs. Flower placidly. "I quite understand and I'm not hurt. The boy's overwrought. No doubt he's forgotten what he did with it. If you see him just tell him he can send it around tomorrow."

Adam coughed and seemed at a loss for an opening. But he need not have worried. It was only necessary to listen. Mrs. Flower proceeded to volunteer all that she had told me earlier in the evening about hearing the shot and about Mrs. Orlington's incriminating position on the veranda.

And everyone on the post
knew she's that way about Barney. Of course they say it's dangerous.

"Barney is very much interested in botany," Adam interposed gravely. "Botany, too, inherited traits—quite a scientific mind."

Now if Adam would only get rid of her, so I could tell him about
the typewriter.

Mrs. Flower's sudden silence
was more provocative than her speech. She couldn't just be still.
It was impossible. Something must be going on.

Something was. I heard Adam say, "What's that?"

And then, in a piercing stage
whisper that carried easily to the head of the stairs, Mrs. Flower hissed, "A scrap of paper!"

He'll Take His Annual Beating—and Like It

By BRESSLER

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Something has happened these past few days that a great many people didn't believe could happen. A man has been peacefully chosen to succeed a dictator.
That is the story of the death of President Kemal Ataturk of Turkey and the selection of his right hand man, Gen. Ismet Inonu.

Turkey is so far away from the United States that the significance of this procedure was largely lost.
But there are parallel situations closer at hand. Upon these there has been speculation—strictly unofficial. Officially there can be no speculation on what will happen
when a dictator comes to the end of his road.

The speculation has tended all in one direction. What will happen
when a successor must be found to replace say, Stalin, Mussolini, or Hitler? Hitler is younger but Mussolini and Stalin are up in their fifties, although Mussolini tries to get his people and himself to forget that. Mussolini has been a dictator as long as Kemal. His official life has been almost as rugged and active as Kemal's. His private life has been far more circumspect and less of a drain on his physique.

Will Death Mean End?

PEOPLE want to know whether they must continue to live with dictatorships only through the life
of one man, or will the breed carry on.

Now comes an example of a dictator being peacefully replaced
with prospects that his program
will continue.

True, there are vast differences
in the nature of the dictatorships,
as seen by observers here. Kemal Ataturk nevertheless was a dictator in his own sphere. He used the dictator's powers, the national parliament, whose existence so long had depended upon his good will.

His associates insist he was not a dictator in the German-Italian
sense. Said one of them:

"He followed the constitution
strictly. No action was taken before he consulted his advisers.
Every decree was passed upon by parliament." Then, it was added naively: "It is good to know that parliament approved all his decrees, for his plans were so wise."

HUDSON RIVER
STEAMBOATS

These articles are written from the collection of George W. Murdock, veteran marine engineer.

No. 66—Victory

The steamboat "Victory," built in 1827 by Moses Kenyon at Albany, had the distinction of being one of the first steamboats which used coal for fuel. However, she was never the success that her owners had intended she should be, due in part to the installation of a more powerful engine, the product of Birkbeck and Company
of New York, than her wooden hull would accommodate.

Her dimensions were: Length, 139 feet; breadth of beam, 25
feet; depth of hold, 9 feet; tonnage, 280; vertical beam engine.
The Albany Steamboat Association launched the "Victory" on May 19, 1827—that is, her hull
was floated on the river and was then towed to New York by the steamboat "Switzerland" where her machinery was installed. The original intention of the owners, (as
was the intention of all steamboat owners of that period), was that the "Victory" should be the fastest and finest vessel on the river. A year later the Albany Steamboat Association launched the "DeWitt Clinton," a running mate for the "Victory."

April 2, 1831 marked the end of the first section of the "Victory's" service on the Hudson river between New York and Albany as this date marked the sale of the steamboat to the New York and Hartford line for use as a dayboat.

Hasbrouck Named Local Chairman In Aiding Blind

Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, of 203 Clinton avenue, has accepted the chairmanship of a committee of local citizens to sponsor an appeal in his community in behalf of the work of the American Foundation for the Blind, 15 West 16th Street, New York city, according to an announcement made today.

The Foundation is the organization through which Miss Helen Keller, noted deaf-blind leader, carries on a nation-wide work to lighten the darkness of the 130,000 blind individuals across the country. The type of vital service which the American Foundation for the Blind renders cannot be duplicated by merely local agencies, and are outside the sphere of federal and state services. They include, for instance, the supplying of information on all subjects related to blindness and the blind.

If a mother finds her child has lost its sight, she writes to the Foundation and is given the latest information for its care, education and training. Such requests for help have been made in thousands of cases. It grants scholarships amounting to thousands of dollars annually to outstanding blind students to enable them to complete their special training and equip them to become independent and therefore happy members of society. Through its intensive investigations it is constantly opening up new types of employment to those who are without sight. It has developed the Talking Book for the blind. This device makes use of recorded discs similar to phonograph records, and has been called the "greatest boon that science has brought to the blind in this century." Through it, much of all that is rewarding in the world of books has been made available to the many thousands of blind people who are unable to read braille or other raised types with proficiency or enjoyment.

The American Foundation for the Blind goes into States where there is no work for the blind, and organizes such activities. In other states, on invitation, it aids in reorganizing work already in existence. It does many other splendid things for the blind people of America, from which the blind of Kingston and New York State, as well as those of other states derive benefit directly or indirectly.

A complete ground school course for members of the newly-formed Finger Lakes Flying Association will be offered as a part of the winter program of the organization.

They're shown in an auto at the site of the north embankment. Inspecting a concrete navigation lock of the dam the president commented that the more than half-finished structure is an example of progress for other sections of the nation. The president was to continue on to Warm Springs, Ga., where he plans to spend Thanksgiving.

Jackson Is Investigating

Georgetown, British Guiana, Nov. 22 (AP)—Governor Sir Wilfred Jackson is himself carrying on the negotiations with Britain for the leasing of 10,000 square miles of this 89,840 mile territory for settlement by German Jewish refugees. He announced he would tell the Legislature today of the progress of these negotiations. Discussion, meanwhile, centered about two areas considered the most likely for settlement. ## Delegates Ask Repeal

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Delegates to the transportation conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce have proposed repeal of the undistributed profits tax as part of a legislative program to rehabilitate the railroads. The 50 transportation and business executives who attended the meeting yesterday also advocated repeal of special rates for government freight, relief from part of the expense of grade crossing elimination, government loans for new equipment, and avoidance of restrictive legislation.

Parent-Teacher Association

School No. 4 Exhibit

An antique and oddity exhibit was held by the Parent-Teacher Association at School No. 4 Friday evening. Several rooms were filled with antiques and curios of every description.

One room was devoted entirely to boat models and Captain George Murdock's collection of Hudson river steamboat pictures. The work represents years of painstaking research and labor. On display near Captain Murdock were the valuable models of the famous Mary Powell, the Adriatic, one of the first steam vessels to cross the Atlantic, and two large models of sailing ships in full sail.

Another room contained the Indian relics of Principal Arthur H. Russell, of School No. 2. Many pieces of this collection are of museum quality and Mr. Russell was kept busy explaining the uses of the various implements and weapons.

In other rooms were exhibits including rare 17th century manuscripts and Bibles, old guns, antique glassware, furniture and various curiosities which drew the attention of a large crowd for several hours.

During the evening refreshments were served by members of the Parent-Teacher Association.

School No. 5

The regular meeting of the P. T. A. of School No. 5 was held Tuesday, November 8, at the school.

Mrs. Craig and Mrs. Simpkins, president and vice president of the Federated Council of P. T. A., were present.

Chairman of the recent card party held at the school reported the sum of $56 cleared for the Christmas fund.

The executive committee of the P. T. A. of School No. 5 held a meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Fraser Steward, of Clifton avenue, Thursday evening, November 17. The president appointed a committee of three, Mrs. Paul Briggs, Mrs. Clarence Mullen and Mrs. Arthur Ballard, to purchase the candy for the school children at Christmas.

Farm Group Holds Annual Round-Up

The first Ulster County Farm Bureau membership "round-up" supper and meeting was held at the Statens Hotel in Kingston, Saturday evening with 77 committee members present. It marked the closing of the annual drive for members.

A total of 622 paid Farm Bureau memberships were reported, as well as 165 definite promises, making a total membership of 787. This is an increase of 31 over the 1937 total, with one community not reporting. The final total is, therefore, expected to reach about 825.

The meeting was opened by C. C. DuMont, of Ulster Park, president of the Farm Bureau. He presented Albert Kuntz, manager of the Farm Bureau, who conducted the remainder of the program. The principal talk of the evening was delivered by Mr. DuMont, who is also a director of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation. He had just arrived from Buffalo, Saturday afternoon, after attending the state convention. He stressed the importance of a large and active membership, which took a definite interest in the development of the program, through community, county, regional and state committees.

Sam Scudder entertained the audience at the piano and with his accordion. Fred Van Deusen fascinated the crowd with his musical performance.

The membership reports attracted a great deal of interest. No previous reports on the results of the membership campaign had been issued. The following is a complete tabulation of the reports.

Job Service Aids Domestic Workers

Every community has a number of women who earn a few dollars periodically by doing a little domestic service of one kind or another for their neighbors and Kingston is no exception, according to Kenneth A. Simpson, Manager of the State Employment Office at 243 Fair street.

"These women, forced to be content with odd jobs at uncertain intervals, almost invariably are searching for permanent places," Manager Simpson said, "but they rarely find such employment unassisted."

"Every one of these women ought to register with the State Employment Service, because household jobs, full-time or part-time, frequently come to our attention. Well-trained housekeepers are often in demand and usually the demand is on short notice."

"Domestic workers, in order to avail themselves of our placement service, should register with the State Employment Service so that when job orders come in, their applications will be immediately available. We aim to act as a job clearing house for this whole community. The area we serve embraces the greater part of Ulster county."

Several Cases Are Disposed Of Monday Before Traver

Several cases were disposed of in County Court Monday afternoon prior to discharging the jurors from further service at this term of court. The jurors were summoned for the September trial term and have been in attendance at the adjourned session of the court. Jurors were excused from further service but court recessed until next Monday, November 28, at 2 o'clock when additional matters will be disposed of.

The open session of the December trial term will be December 8, at 11 o'clock.

George Crum of Woodstock was arraigned by Mr. Murray under an indictment charging possession of policy slips and being a common gambler. Frederick Stang appeared for Crum and a plea of not guilty was entered.

Arthur Lechner of New York, charged with stealing the car of John M. Moran in town of Gardner changed a plea of not guilty to one of guilty. Damage done the car has been paid for and restitution made. Mr. Murray said the complainant asked that leniency be shown. The court imposed a year in the Ulster county jail and suspended execution of the sentence during good behavior and paroled the defendant.

Benjamin Hummel, 21, and Percy C. Alexander, who were charged with breaking into the place of Dr. Williams of Poughkeepsie in the town of Rochester, changed their former pleas of not guilty to guilty to unlawful entry. They had been charged with larceny. Chris J. Plazman appeared for Hummel and Alexander. The two youths were given a year in jail by Judge Traver, who suspended execution of sentence during good behavior and paroled the pair.

Hyman Alpert, 49, of German street, who was charged with having bought junk from the old Hoffman brewery from children under the age of 16, changed a plea of not guilty to one of guilty and was given six months in the county jail. The jail sentence was suspended during good behavior and he was paroled. Judge Traver warned Alpert not to deal with minors again.

Anthony Borchetti, who was charged with having robbed one Charles Fields of Lloyds, was represented by Fred Stang. Mr. Stang said he had been assigned to the case and had made an investigation into the matter. Borchetti was charged with grand larceny, second degree, and pleaded guilty to that charge. He is also under indictment for robbery, first degree. Mr. Stang asked for leniency since Borchetti was a young man, married. His plea of guilty to grand larceny was accepted on the plea of his counsel and Judge Traver sentenced Borchetti to an indeterminate term at Clinton State Prison, the minimum of which shall be four years and the maximum eight years.

Goldstein Pleads Innocence
Jack Goldstein of Ellenville was arraigned on a charge of being a common gambler. He pleaded not guilty through his attorney, Benjamin Lonstein and paroled in his counsel's custody until a bail bond can be filed. The charge alleged that the act was committed on July 4, last. Mr. Lonstein asked 20 days time to make further motions, that he be supplied with a copy of the indictment.

Edward J. Fenton, Jr., 29, was arraigned on a charge of violation of Section 974 some time ago. His case was also one of those growing out of the gambling raids conducted by District Attorney Murray. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $250 and sentenced to 90 days in the county jail. The jail sentence was suspended during good behavior. J. Edward Conway appeared for Fenton.

Alex Kero of Kingston was charged with carrying a weapon illegally. A. J. Cook appeared and Kero pleaded guilty. He was fined $50 and advised by the court to get a job away from Kingston, where he would not be tempted to again get into trouble. Besides the fine a six months' jail sen-

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Nov. 22.—The Christmas Club of the First National Bank of Marlborough has a large number of members this year. There have been a total of 175 members for the year of 1938, and a total of approximately $7,000 is to be paid out, an increase of $1,000 over last year.

The checks will be mailed out about December 1 and a new club will start immediately.

Wesley Meekin of the Newburgh News staff, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Men's Club, which met last week at the home of Fred Barnes at Middleboro. He gave an interesting account of newspapers, their organization construction and production. There was considerable discussion at the business meeting of the club's sponsorship of the local Boy Scout troop. The club is assessed by the District

Scout Committee, a total of $80 for the 16 boys in the Marlborough troop. The club pays the $5 annual membership for each boy. A total of $45 has been sent to the scout headquarters. The next meeting will be held in the home of H. Townsend, Vol. of the South Road on December 12.

Dr. A. Masselle and Frank Nicklin will be in charge of the program committee. Refreshments will be in charge of Fred S. Fowler, Fred Barnes and Howard Baker. Thirty-nine men attended the meeting held last week.

The amount to be raised by taxes in the town of Marlborough for 1939 will be less than that required for the past year, despite the necessity of raising $1,200 for the Milton light district. The saving was effected by the town board paring the town abstract fund at its meeting held last week. Hospital bills and other expenses are lower which enables the board to cut the abstract fund from $9,144, which was the figure for the past year, to $8,342.07, the estimated need for the coming year.

Four men, members of the Marlborough Central School faculty are taking active part in the choir of St. Mary's Catholic Church. Mr. Maroney is the leader and the others are Gerard Mater, agriculture teacher, Harold McCourt, social science teacher and Mr. Tufo, teacher of commercial subjects.

A food sale was held by members of the Methodist Church Sunday School on Friday in the store next to the Cut Rate Drug Store on Main street.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coon

HOLLYWOOD—Miliza Korjus is going to stay in paradise. She thinks Hollywood's paradise. When the bosses saw Miliza, in "The Great Waltz," they cheered. When they heard Miliza's great golden voice, they did a snake dance. They began counting. A producer is never so happy as when he is counting. Miliza will stay in Paradise.

And let me say right here that Hollywood will be more like Paradise because she is here. Miliza Korjus (Metro wants you to pronounce it Gor-gous) is different. She is different because she is a glammer girl—and she hasn't any glammer. She has it on the screen, which is all to the good.

Off-screen, she's got something better. It's vitality, good health, a big cheerfulness and a big, girlish laughter. She doesn't look as if she'll swoon if you breathe too hard. She doesn't slink, and she doesn't pose. She's pretty, but she's no orchid. More the sunflower type. Big and blonde.

MILIZA is a big girl still. She was much bigger when she arrived two years ago. How much she lost through diet and exercise is not for us to know. I have been told it was about 80 pounds, which seems incredible. I have been told it is only 30 pounds, which is still pretty good.

Miliza will "give" about that diet. But DON'T try it. She was under medical supervision the whole time.

"Ya, I come here and I am just like in prison," she said. "I take juices, and water, and you know WHAT? VEGETABLES!"

And meat, raw hamburger, one-half pound a day, on tomato slice. Next week, raw calf's liver ground up with raw carrot to kill taste. I tell you, any American woman who take it this way will find she stay young, beautiful, not nervous or anemic. One-quarter pound. For singer, one-half pound because of singer need power. It is AWFUL, but you must imagine it is chuck'at, very fast as can. It looks like chuck'at pudding, ya!"

ONE hour before retiring she has a phonograph concert—symphonies from her collection of 2,000 records. She lives near the ocean with her husband, Kuno Folsch, mathematician, astronomer and writer, and their 5-year-old daughter.

She volunteered the information that Fernand Gravet is her favorite actor, but I had to ask about the favorite dish of a lady on a diet.

"American Liberty pie," she exclaimed with ecstasy. "I get it at a hotel downtown. The recipe is secret. But it is white—with whipped cream—and chuck'at inside—and everything!"

Local Moose Plan Membership Drive And New Quarters
Setting a goal of 500 members and larger lodge and social quarters the Kingston Lodge of Moose will shortly start a drive in the city and county.

S. Harry Rickman of Albany, has been assigned to the Hudson Valley territory as a Moose director by the enrollment department of the Local Order of Moose of Mooseheart, Ill., and the local lodge drive will be under his supervision.

The present lodge property on Cedar street is entirely inadequate for the increased work toward rendering the added assistance to the supreme lodge in the care and supervision of children of deceased members, and for the aged member at their home in Moosehaven, Fla.

Warden Joseph Brophy of Geneva believes that a few trained boys rarely become prison-trained men.

Woman's Coolness Puzzles Officers

separated in 1924 and Mrs. Burckhalter went to her parents' home in Oakland, Calif. She returned east again in 1925, but in 1927 went back to California and in 1927 obtained an interlocutory divorce which became final in 1929.

They remarried in 1936 "for the sake of" their two sons, Donald, 20, who was adopted, and William, 17, Gallagher said she told him.

Gallagher said Mrs. Burckhalter told him her husband was in a poor way financially and physically and had talked of suicide for a month. Last Thursday, he said she told him, she tried out the vacuum hose, attaching it to the exhaust pipe and trying to shove it up through the floor boards, but it was too short and she took it back to the house.

When Saturday came the boys were away from home. The boys were away from home.

Mrs. Burckhalter, a slight, good-looking woman, saw that everything was in readiness—her husband in the car, the motor running. Then, according to Gallagher, she called to him:

"You haven't got the nerve to go through with it."

After that she went shopping. When she came home her husband was dead.

Denies Charges

Joseph DeLuca (above), youthful father of a two-months-old baby boy, pleaded innocent to charges that he attempted to slay his son by undressing him in freezing temperatures and that he assaulted his wife, Mrs. Thomasina DeLuca, Lawrence, Mass., police who were holding him said his wife accused DeLuca of neglecting the baby for a pet monkey.

Boice Is Chosen To Lead Group

will be appointed later by the president to make arrangements. President Dunsinberry presided at the session Monday evening and the secretary read the names of six members who during the past year have died. Following the reading of the names the members present paid silent tribute to their dead members. Those who have died since the last meeting are: W. E. Harcourt, J. Charles Snyder, John Sweeney, John T. Fratscher, Hugh McTague and John Feeney.

The extensive music program of the New York World's Fair, 1939, is to include operas, symphony, choral and religious musical presentations, light opera, folk music, ballets and the dances of this country and other nations.

History Society Names Officers

At the annual meeting of the Ulster County Historical Society held at the court house Saturday noon, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck was again elected to head the society for another year.

Edward Coykendall, of Kingston, Mrs. Harcourt, J. Pratt of Highland, Frank J. LeFevre of New Paltz, Willis G. Nash, of Lomontville, were re-elected vice presidents.

As neither Dr. Spencer L. Dawes, secretary, nor Mrs. C. W. Hasbrouck, treasurer, desired to continue in office, a resolution was passed consolidating the offices and on motion of Mrs. C. W. Hasbrouck, Louis Bruyn was named secretary-treasurer of the society.

No changes were made in the board of trustees except that Mrs. Bruno Zimm, of Woodstock, was elected a trustee in place of Dr. Raymond Crispell, who is now a resident of North Carolina. The other trustees, who were re-elected, are: Mrs. E. C. Chabourne, Stone Ridge; Edward Coykendall, Kingston; Dr. James Cantine, Stone Ridge; Alan Mackenzie, Rosendale; Edward L. Merritt, Kingston; Frank J. LeFevre, New Paltz; Mrs. Frank Seaman, Nanonoch; Lloyd R. LeFevre, Kingston; G. D. B. Hasbrouck.

The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Local Death Record

George J. Freer, 74, of Pataunkunk, died at his home Monday. Surviving are one son, Charles Freer of Kerhonkson; one daughter, Mrs. Ralph Wright of Nanonoch; two sisters, Mrs. Eli J. Bois of New Paltz and Mrs. Jason Baker of Kerhonkson. The funeral will be held from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson, Friday at 1:30 p. m. Burial will be in Lloyd cemetery. The Rev. David Achterkirch will conduct the services.

Jonathan B. Gordon died suddenly at his home, 71 Liberty street early this morning. Mr. Gordon had been engaged in the woodworking business for many years at both the Deben plant and at Schilling's. He retired in 1928. The body may be viewed at any time at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 296 Fair street. Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. from the Grahamsville M. E. Church. Burial will be in Grahamsville Cemetery.

Louis J. Glass, who had been ill with arthritis for a long time, was found dead in bed at his home on Kings Highway, Saugerties, Monday morning. Dr. Lester A. Sonking was called and he pronounced death due to a heart attack. Mr. Glass was 55 years of age. A wife, Ida Monroe Glass; two daughters, Mrs. Lansing Martin, and Ida Glass; a son, Charles Glass, and a brother, William Glass, of New Jersey, survive him. The funeral will be held at the family home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the Katsbaan Cemetery.

James Gilbert Fitzgerald, son of James B. and Rosalin Fitzgerald, died at the family home Monday evening after a long illness. He leaves to mourn his loss his parents and one sister, Mrs. Irene Lee, of this city, and several aunts and uncles and his grandfather, John Stanford, of this city. The funeral will be held from the late home, 63 Cornell street, Wednesday at 2 p. m. and 2:30 at Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church, where services will be held. Interment will be in the family plot in Mt. Zion Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Fredericka Studd, wife of the late Martin Studd, who died last Wednesday following a lingering illness was held from her late home, 18 First avenue, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and 2:30 at the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church. Scores of relatives and friends gathered to pay a final tribute to one who had held a vital place in their hearts. At the conclusion of the services, Gustav Koch very feelingly sang "My Jesus As Thou Wilt." The casket bearers were Edward Wiedemann, Ervin Alward, Fred Peters, Elias Nickerson, Charles Petri, Jr., and Milford Wendland. Burial was in the family plot in Montrose cemetery, where Pastor Witte conducted the committal services.

Miss Esther H. Fitzgerald, a well known and highly respected resident of this city since early childhood, died this morning following a short illness. She was born in Ireland, the daughter of the late James and Honora Wade Fitzgerald, and came to this city when she was six years old. In spite of her advanced age she was of a genial and kindly disposition and always took an active interest in the topics of the day, and by her fine Christian character and her willingness to help anyone in sickness or trouble, she had endeared herself to a large circle of friends. She is survived by one brother, James Fitzgerald, of this city and four nephews. The funeral will be held from her late home, 75 Hurley avenue, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 at St. Joseph's Church, where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of her soul. Burial in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Many Aged Workers Fail To File Security Claims

Many wage earners in Ulster, Dutchess and Putnam counties who have reached the age of 65 have not filed claims for single contributions under the old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act, it was announced today.

Such workers may be entitled to benefits and should make inquiry about their claims. John Form, manager of the Social Security Board office at Kingston, suggests that such workers should consult his office as to their eligibility.

Penny's Store To Have Santa

Santa Claus is so pleased with the increased interest the J. C. Penny Co. is taking in their toy department, at the store on Wall street, that he had agreed to visit it Saturday at 2 o'clock, a sort of before-Christmas call, and at that time will present souvenirs to all the boys and girls who come to see him.

The department is now being put into shape, having been enlarged since a year ago, at which time it was doubled. Manager Byron S. Chatham said this morning that they have a much larger line of toys this year and a more varied line, including many in the better grades. They have gone in for dolls in a big way. There are dolls of all kinds from the little baby dolls and the Seven Dwarfs, to the large and handsome manna dolls.

A reporter looked in vain for papa dolls, but the only thing of the kind he could see was Charley McCarty—and it's really a question whether he counts. The layette outfit, that was so popular last year, is also included in the display.

The boys have not been forgotten and there are gifts for them that include the better chemical sets, erector sets, footballs, boxing gloves, skates and many other articles.

La Pallice, France, Nov. 22 (AP)—The prison ship La Martinique sailed today for the first time in three years with 738 convicts condemned to penal exile in French Guiana. ## Helen Wiegand Gets Separation

Helen Wiegand has been granted a separation from her husband, Harry Wiegand, Sr., following trial of an action before Justice Harry E. Schirick on November 4. Michael Nardone appeared for plaintiff. Married at New York city July 21, 1919, the plaintiff alleged that prior to October 28, 1937, the defendant struck her and her son with a cane about every day at supper time. Also that he used vile and abusive language and on October 28, 1937 he left home and has since failed to support her.

Justice Schirick grants the separation on the grounds of desertion and cruel and inhuman treatment and awards custody of a son to the plaintiff. Taxed costs of the action are to be recovered by plaintiff from the defendant.

45 Die, 60 Hurt In Avalanche

Castles, St. Lucia, British West Indies, Nov. 22 (AP)—A series of rain-loosened avalanches today spread death and destruction in the interior of this island of the Windward group.

A mountain slide eight miles long last night buried two hunters and a number of inhabitants estimated to run into the hundreds.

Rescue workers recovered 43 dead and 60 injured, but this morning a new avalanche buried

all of the dead again in addition to many injured and several rescue workers. Shortly after the first avalanche a gang of 50 laborers was swept into a river when a house in which they were sheltered slipped away about with an acre of land of the town saved, six died during the night.

Continuous rains of the past three weeks apparently had loosened tons of earth.

Associate Editor Speaking Next Week

Few women are better known in national and international fields than Miss Lena Madelon Phillips, associate editor of Pictorial Review, president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women and Vice president of the International Council of Women, who is to speak at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church on Tuesday, November 29, under the auspices of the College Women's Club. Through her monthly articles addressed to club women in Pictorial Review, through hundreds of speaking engagements in all parts of the United States and Canada and in 21 countries of Europe, and through her attendance at many international meetings, she has won a following that extends into practically all parts of the world. She has been chosen as her topic, "Strange New Worlds."

Miss Phillips' career in the organization field began in 1918, when, leaving her law practice in her native Kentucky, she came to New York to head the newly created Business Women's department of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association. Since then she has stood in the forefront of the movement to gain for business and professional women a recognition commensurate with their services and achievements.

Centered for a long time in the national arena, Miss Phillips' interests were extended to the international field when in 1928 she went to Europe as the leader of a Goodwill Tour of Business and Professional Women whose purpose was to make contacts with other women in vocations similar to their own.

Miss Phillips has spoken from many famous rostrums, noteworthy among them the Grand Amphitheatre of the Sorbonne in Paris in 1934, when on the platform with some of the most distinguished women in Europe she defended Women's Right to Work at a mass meeting devoted to that subject.

She has presided at many international meetings, perhaps her most dramatic experience being a presiding officer in Paris during the summer of 1936, when at an International Congress attended by women of 20 nations, during a mass meeting at which Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins was the principal speaker, she was interrupted in her introduction of a preceding speaker by a noisy demonstration by Parisian suffragettes chained to their chairs so that they could not easily be removed from the hall. By sheer force of personality, she succeeded in quelling their turbulence, bringing the meeting to order, and holding the suffrage group among the most interested and attentive auditors for the balance of the evening.

Miss Phillips also is connected with many important organizations, among them The World Center for Women's Archives, of which she is a director; the American Bar Association; the New York League of Business and Professional Women, of which she is honorary president; the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, and the New York World's Fair 1939.

Letters Take No Time Written This Easy Way

Sample Letters Show You How

"How letters do pile up," worries Joyce, ready to put off writing again because she can't think how to begin, what to say.

A great pity to lose friends that way! Easy to write quickly, charmingly with hints from sample letters by good writers.

No hesitating then over that note of thanks to Margie for her gift. Trippingly you write, "Darling of you to send me that exquisite lamp—it's a bright spot in my room."

With correct forms before you, you quickly answer the tea invitation written on Mrs. Grey's visiting card. Using the third person, you begin, "Miss Joyce Jones accepts with pleasure..."

That letter of introduction is simple when you have a guide at hand. Tactfully you write, "An old friend, Alice Graham, is moving to Middletown. She's devoted to music—I'm sure you two will find much in common."

Where to get good sample letters? Lots of them in our 32-page booklet! Letters for business and social occasions. Invitations. Tips on bright interesting phrases, colorful words. Right beginnings, closings, correct stationery.

"Make tenderer jelly with quick-dissolving Jack Frost!"

CRANBERRY JELLY
(Serves 8 to 10)
4 cups cranberries
3 cups boiling water
2½ cups Jack Frost Granulated Sugar

1. Wash cranberries, discarding stems and all unsound or unripe berries. Drain thoroughly.

2. Place in large saucepan with boiling water and Jack Frost Granulated Sugar. Because Jack Frost is so quick-dissolving, it's ideal sugar to use for all jelly-making.

3. Bring to boiling point and boil 20 minutes, crushing berries with a spoon as they soften. It is important to time the boiling period carefully.

4. Press juice and pulp through a strainer to remove skins.

5. Turn into a mold, preferably metal, and chill well.

6. To make Cranberry Sauce instead of jelly, do not strain. (Other fine recipes on the Jack Frost package.)

Rondout Masons Honored Veterans Monday Evening

It was "Veterans' Night" at Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., on Monday evening, when the lodge paid honor to its members who have been Master Masons for 40 or more years. An interesting program had been arranged by W. Kenneth Kukuk, master of the lodge, and among the veterans honored were Carl G. Fisher, Frederick Balzer and David Terry, who have been Master Masons for over forty years.

A delegation of nine Masons from Teaneck, N. J., Lodge of Masons, paid a fraternal visit to the lodge to unite in paying tribute to the veterans. The address of the evening was delivered by the Rev. William A. Grier, rector of the Holy Cross Church on Pine Grove avenue.

During the evening interesting

movies were shown by Henry Millonig, Jr., and a hot roastbeef dinner was served which was followed by a social hour.

There are only two more communications of the lodge this year. On Monday evening, December 5, the first degree will be conferred on a class of candidates, and on Monday evening, December 15, the annual communication will be held.

As an initial step toward this end, a group of citizens representing the city administration and the Uptown, Central and Downtown Business Organizations of Kingston have sent a resolution to the board of supervisors, favoring the appropriation of $5,000 in the budget for advertising. In order to make this a countywide effort we are requesting your organization and other prominent organizations in the different communities to send a similar resolution to the board favoring this appropriation.

Since the board of supervisors has just stated its annual budget meetings it is absolutely imperative that action be taken immediately. If your organization does not meet before December first will you call a meeting of your directors and take action on this matter which is so vital to every line of business in Ulster county. ## Cheapest Thanksgiving Dinner in Four Years

Chicago, Nov. 22 (AP)—The family Thanksgiving dinner will be solematized over the cheapest dinner in four years.

A survey of wholesale and retail markets today in Chicago, the nation's food center, showed most of the important items housewives will buy at shops the next two days are priced lower than a year ago.

The family purse still is receiving benefit from a sharp cut in food costs that occurred last year. The cost of feeding the nation fell from the highest point in six years to the lowest point in four years.

The 1937 peak was reached just before Thanksgiving. One of the most pronounced price slumps on record followed and by February, 1938, prices were lower than they had been any time since January, 1935. There has been a slight rise since early this year but the general level of prices, according to government statistics, is about 11 per cent lower than a year ago.

Sands Will Case Held Yesterday Before Kaufman

After a short session of county court Monday afternoon the Frank Sands will contest was resumed before Surrogate George F. Kaufman in court chambers. There is a difference of opinion as to whether Mr. Sands, a man of 52, was competent to make a will on February 7, last, when he executed the instrument which is being contested by a nephew, Del. Mr. Folts is the only one of six nieces and nephews who received no mention in the will.

Contesting on the grounds that Mr. Sands was not competent to make a will and also on the grounds of undue influence, counsel intimated in his opening that no mention of Mr. Folts was made probably because the aged man had overlooked this nephew.

George M. Northrup, member of the firm of Cassidy & Northrup of Newburgh, who had acted as Mr. Sands' attorney in many matters, testified he had declined to draw a will for Mr. Sands at one time because he did not believe Mr. Sands was competent to do so at that time. There had been several prior wills made Mr. Northrup also added that he knew Mr. Sands had been a voluntary patient at Middletown State Hospital.

On the stand Monday John Rusk, Jr., attorney who drew the will for Mr. Sands in February preceding his death at Sands' Sanatorium in Kingston on July 28, testified that he had known Frank Sands all his life and had seen him almost daily about the village of Marlborough where he lived. When Sands came to make a change in his will in February he came alone and seemed to be competent to make a will and understand what he was doing. Mr. Rusk said however at the time he did not mention the name of Lawton Folts to the aged man. Other nieces and nephews were mentioned in the instrument. The one change Mr. Sands made at the time was to give Harry Folts $500. This beneficiary was a child of Mr. Sands' sister who had died not long previously in an automobile accident. Lawton Folts is a brother.

Tommy Zano, Moogy Marchese Are Victorious by Knockouts

Newark, N. J.—(Special)—Two good looking prospects in the professional boxing ranks, who started their careers in Kingston, N. Y., won here by knockout Monday night.

TOMMY ZANO

Smashes. Tommy Zano knocked out Buddy Stewart in the first round. Zano had his man on the floor twice before the final punch, a right under the heart that put him away for the count of 16.

MOOGY MARCHESE

Moogy Marchese, in his first professional fight under the name of Monty Mark, stopped Richard Bennett in the third round, flooring him once in this frame, before the finish, and once in the second round. Boxing writers at the ringside, and were especially enthusiastic over Mark (Marchese) who, they think, will be a contender for the title held by Joe Louis by the time Ray Arcel, trainer of champions, gets him working the way he wants him.

Bo Would Have Coach Call Plays

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 22 (AP)—Alvin N. (Bo) McMillin, irrepressible and inventive as ever, though his Indiana University football team got only one victory the season just closed, started a one-man campaign today for a new rule to make the coach take over the heavy brain work of his quarterback.

The white-haired southerner who pilots the Hoosiers says the coach, and not the quarterback, should decide which plays his team is to use on offense. His idea is to have the coach run on the field before each scrimmage, go into a huddle with his boys, tell them what to do.

And Bo, a member of the rules committee of the National Football Coaches Association, declares he's going to have the committee draw up a rule for this in Chicago next month and submit it to the rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Bo, quarterback at Centre College before he became a coach, sprang his latest big idea while being interviewed by Red Barber, sports announcer for a Cincinnati radio station (WLW), just before Indiana's yearly football banquet here last night.

MORE SHAVES
With A Super-Thin Blade

Shave at the Green Bay Packers, who have finished their national pro football season except for a probable appearance in the playoffs, established a new league scoring record with the three points they scored against the New York Giants Sunday.

That gave them a total of 223 points in eleven games against the old mark of 220 they made last year.

Colonials Ready For Troy

Freeman Photo

Having cracked their losing jinx after two contests, by winning at Wilkes-Barre, 44-34, the Kingston Colonials are ready for their two games with Carle Husta's Trojans this week, Wednesday at the Collar City, and Thanksgiving night at the municipal auditorium, which is expected to be packed to the rafters.

The Colonials: (Kneeling) Sammy Kaplan, Ken Kramer, Carle Johnson, Harry Fitzpatrick, and Nat Frankel; (standing) Jack Fere of local promotion committee, Barney Sedran, manager; Benjie Fliegel, Chuck Reiser, Attorney LeVan Haver and Matthew H. Herzog, two other members of the promotion committee from Kingston.

Starting time of Thursday's game is 9 o'clock. Those desiring good rush seats are advised to be on hand early. There are a few choice reserved seats left. These may be had by phoning Dick Williams at 675.

Giants Practice Tonight For Thanksgiving Game

PUNTS AND PASSES

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Mal Stevens, New York University coach who reported once this season that his eight-year-old son wouldn't even speak to him because of what had been happening to his Violets, has turned his attention to the N. Y. U. faculty. With the climax game against Fordham coming up Saturday, the professors decided to release all football players from classes scheduled after 2 p. m. so they could have time to practice. "First time I've had any real cooperation this season," Stevens growled.

Albuquerque—The University of New Mexico Lobos may win up in the Rose bowl New Year's Day, but they'll have to work for their admission. Negotiations are under way for a Christmas Day under New Mexico and the undefeated San Jose (Calif.) State team, according to Coach Ted Shipkey, and if the Lobos make the trip they'll probably stay over to see the Rose Bowl game or some other New Year's contest.

New York—The Manhattan College team has a special reason for wanting to kick Villanova Thursday. The Wildcats haven't been beaten in their last 19 games, although they've been tied, and the winning streak started back in 1936 with a 12-0 victory over Manhattan.

New Paltz Boy Sees New Hope For Year of '39

ANTHONY RUIZ

Thanksgiving Day is one of extra significance to Anthony Ruiz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruiz, of Church street, New Paltz, for then he will observe his ninth birthday.

The beginning of a new year for Anthony, however, will be one of greater significance for it will mean the beginning of a new freedom and a different outlook on life.

The boy has been crippled since he was two years old when he was stricken with infantile paralysis, and for three and a half years he has worn a leg brace.

Last October 3, Anthony was admitted as a patient to a hospital in New York for the ruptured and crippled. An operation was performed and his leg was put into a cast.

He returned to his home recently with instructions to continue wearing the cast until January, when it will be removed and he will begin walking for the first time without the aid of the cast.

Those who know Tony, say that he has been a model patient and a boy of exceptional demeanor and personality, despite his affliction. Tony has been brave, they say, and they report now that none could be happier with the thought of what the beginning of the year 1939 will mean for him.

Walden Resident Fatally Injured

Thomas Ryan, 23, of Walden, was instantly killed when struck by the auto of Miss Mary Rhinehart, 23, of Gardner, on Ulster avenue, Walden, Saturday evening.

Miss Rhinehart, an Accord school teacher, is free in her own recognition after pleading not guilty to a charge of reckless driving lodged against her by Police Chief George Tatty of Walden, following Ryan's death. Coroner Andrew S. Culyer indicated that Miss Rhinehart will be exonerated unless new evidence is presented at the inquest on Friday.

Personal effects at Mr. Rockefeller's home at Pocantico Hills, N. Y., were appraised at $17,118.50. In addition he had a half interest in farm machinery there as well as two horses and other farm equipment totaling $6,922.50.

Two marble busts of Mr. Rockefeller were valued at $7,000 each. One was by Paul Manship, the other by Jo Davidson.

An oil painting of Mrs. Rockefeller, Sr., by Mrs. W. D. Murphy was appraised at $350 and a copy of an oil painting of Mr. Rockefeller's mother was valued at $200.

Other items included an incomplete dinner set of 121 pieces, valued at $600, 12 champagne tumblers, $20; 12 cocktail glasses, $6; a gold open-face Tiffany stop watch, $45, and a carved ivory letter opener with a gold monogram, $25. Six gold plated collar buttons were listed as having "no value."

Among the funeral and administration expenses were dismissal allowances to 30 employees, ranging from $61 to $815.

In a statement by Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., it was set forth that to the best of his knowledge his father had "at no time during his life made any transfers or created any trusts in contemplation of death or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after death."

Further the statement pointed out: "During the course of his life, the decedent was constantly making gifts in cash of an amount of $5,000 or more and gifts in kind to charitable institutions and to individuals and the complete list of all such gifts is voluminous."
